

Poems & Lyrics

Von ScarsLikeVelvet

Forgive me

Forgive me

You were the one who raped my heart
You were the one who tore my soul apart
You were the one who made me cry
You were the one whose fault it may be when I die

I was the one who was raped
I was the one who was torn apart
I was the one who cried
I am the one who is about to kill herself

You make me shake with anger
You make me shiver with fear
You make me cry
You make me kill myself

I hate to shiver
I hate to cry
I don't want to be myself anymore
I don't want to be here anymore
This is not the place to be any longer for me
I hate this place
This is where I cried
This is where my soul died
This is where my heart died
I want to leave
I don't want to be here
I will leave as soon as possible
I will leave into a better live
I hope so...but I won't know until I haven't tried
So I say 'Sayonara, mother'
I will leave...and I hope we can be friends someday
But for now it is better if you leave me alone
Because I don't want to rape your heart or tear your soul apart
Forgive me, mother

And still shaking, shivering and crying I leave...
...but I haven't killed myself

© S. Rabe 25.08.2005 22.45