Neverland

Welcome to a place where the sun always shines, where everyone's happy and honest and fine, everyone's laughing and celebrating the day, you want to stay but you have to go away...

Here you have at least a thousand friends, you don't want to leave, you don't want it to end, the sun is shining brighter than ever before, but where you are going there is sadness and war...

You take one last glance at this too lucky place, the birds are singing, the sun is shining on your face, mother nature is happy cuz she has no wounds, now you turn and go, darkness surrounds...
...you...and you fall...to the ground...

The chirping of the birds is dying, you can't hear a thing, the happy voices are fading, you can't hear them sing, you strain your ears to catch one tiny sound, but there isn't anything, just empty darkness around...

Suddenly you jerk awake, you're actually lying in your bed, your past was only a dream, a fake,
and you wanna go back, you wanna be dead...
