

From the beginning

Von Lunamon

From the beginning

Ash was sitting under a tree in his hometown Pallet town. For about fifteen years ago, he had become a Pokémon master. After that, he was on a tour to show up his Pokémon in schools and on big events. But now he thinks it kind of boring. But he liked to do take that road again, to take badges, fight and always have his friends on his side. But Brock has finally gotten married, Tracy has become a great Pokémon professor, and last it was she. She that had leaved him for to be a full time Gym leader at the Cerulian gym, together with her boyfriend. Ash looked up on the sky.

"Think if I had asked her for twenty years ago. Maybe she would have been mine. Not to that scum...I don't even remember his name. But he is water Pokémon trainer, and he had that look girls just cant resist. The same night I should asked Misty out for a dinner, but he did it before me. Because I overslept. Why must I be so clumsy?! I'm doing everything wrong. Even the first day of my Pokémon journey I overslept. But I got Pikachu instead, think if I haven't overslept, maybe then I had got a Squirtle or a Bulbaesar instead of Pikachu. But I got a Bulbaesar and a Squirtle later, even a Charmander. That time I had luck that I overslept."

Ash crawled himself into a ball.

"Misty I love you, think if I had said those three words for twenty years ago. Then she had been all mine, just mine."

Ash yawned and closed his eyes for a second. When he looked again, Misty stood there, but she had the clothes that she had for five years ago.

-Are you still sleeping?!. We must go on you now," Misty said.

-What are meaning? And what are you doing here in Pallet town?"

-You stupid child! We are not in Pallet. Don't you remember? You are going to the world greatest Pokémon master. Ore have you forgot that to?"

Ash looked at himself, it wasn't that jacket he had when he was under the tree. It was the same clothes he used to wear. Ash looked up on Misty. "Where are we going to?"

-Stupid loser! We are going to Pewter so you can be a Pokémon master! Do you remember now? We are in Viridian forest and I hate all bugs here so cant we go now?!

"What! All this happened in my beginning to be a Pokémon master. How can I be back? Think if this is a dream ore, was that other thing a dream?!" thought Ash.

Ash looked up on Misty.

-Sorry Misty, but I am not myself today. But I had the weirdest dream. It looked like my future. I had become a Pokémon master, but it wasn't my real dream. My dream was to always be with you. I loved you, and you had loved me.

Misty looked a little surprised first but then.

- In your dreams that I love you! You owe me a bike, that's the only thing I follow you. Understand!

Ash smiled.

-Yes I understand. But I don't have any money to buy a new bike right now! You can have it later when I am the greatest Pokémon master!

-Like you ever are going to be that. C'mon now, we must go. Misty started to walk through the forest.

"If this is a dream it is a wonderful dream. Now I can do all things again, this time even better. And if I ever fall in love with Misty, I'm going to tell her that."

Ash started to run until he was at Misty's side. And at his shoulder he got Pikachu, as always.

The End

Sofia (Lunamon)