

The exposed mountain of the running tears

Von -Bloody_Nia_Neko-

The exposed mountain of the running tears
( und verzeiht bitte Grammatikfehler...bin nicht allzu gut in Englisch^^)

I stood there on the edge of the wood, and saw him there the white wolf on the exposed mountain of the running tears.

I remember the days you were a part of me. my better side, but then you've gone away. And never said goodbye, I was so lonely and so sad.

In this sadness I felt drawn towards something new, then I was walking and found the mountain.

I was sitting there and crying then the white wolf came and suddenly I wasn't sad anymore. He ran away, I followed him, then later on a clearing there was fantastic mountain.

Lots of years before this happened my mother told me the story of a little fairy, losing her lover by protecting her from the demons in the big war. The demons were surprised by seeing this, how could he give his life to protect someone? Is there so much love in this stupid black world?

This achievement let them know that the war was unnecessary. Lots of innocent creatures died. Kids and women, too. It was all their fault. They realized that they made a big mistake.

From this moment they lived in peace. They celebrate each year on the 11th March a big festival, the end of the big war.

There was a little waterfall, a small bird flew to me, by sitting on my hand, it tried to tell me something, I thought.

On the hectically upset movements it did, I thought there was trouble, someone needs me. I should go. Not thinking about past anymore.