Kapitel 4: Fourth

The fourth family

kuro, the only daughter of cainz and Ren, grew up in a world where she was always protected.

Her two elder brothers, break and Andoryuu, glared everyone who looked at her pervertedly, to death.

And her younger brother Taro made sure she wasn't alone in the presence of men. Archaell had a hard time courting her. Since break would go wild, Ando would start lecturing kuro about boys and Taro would start crying and tell kuro not to leave her brother behind. But in the after many years of hardship, they ended up being married.

Break, Archaell and jeneko were childhood friends. Jeneko loved break since he promised jeneko to marry her in the future. Jeneko never forgot that promise, even after they moved far away from break's family.

The three friends saw each other again when they both applied to the same college. Jeneko had a boyish attitude, since she's the only female in the family. Both Archaell and break were womanizers. A fact, jeneko couldn't really accept, since break promised to marry her. She attended one party in which both Archaell and break hosted. She found out that he forgot about the promise he made many years ago.

Jeneko was crushed. On the prom, she asked Andoryuu to be her partner since she knew break would never ask her. That night everything changed.

Jeneko was known as the "tomboy" in the school. She never wore skirts or short shorts. But at the prom she wore a lilac colored cocktail dress. The dress emphasised her curves that nobody noticed in her usual clothes. She also curled her hair, making her look more lady-like.

Nobody recognized her that night. Except for break. He was stunned by her beauty. Well, and after that they got together and married each other after college. Not too long after that the couple was blessed with a child. He was named Freekid.

Freekid was an only child for 5 years. He longed for a little sister. His prayers were answered and his sister Asoundlesslife was born. Freekid was so obsessed about his little sister he fell in love with her. He killed every guy who dared to flirt with her. Asoundlesslife was pregnant with the age of 15. And guess who the father is? That's right, the father of Akiye was Freekid.

Andoryuu was always protective about his little sister and cousins. He loved them and didn't want to see them with the company of other men. He didn't notice that he was loved by somebody, who wasn't part of the family.

Sakuranagasi, kuro's neighbour and best friend had a crush on Andoryuu. Kuro knew this of course, and couldn't stop teasing Sa-chan about it. Sa-chan just blushed. Andoryuu loved Sa-chan as a little sister. That was something that depressed Sa-chan. She didn't want a brother-sister relationship. She wanted to be loved.

Sa-chan's mother passed away, giving birth to her. And her father was so absorbed with his work he hardly came home from abroad. She envied Ando and kuro, who had a big, chaotic yet warm and complete family. Sa-chan was always welcome to their house, she was a unofficial member of the MV family. As time passed by, Ando still didn't notice Sa-chan's feelings. Sa-chan wanted to give up on him. But kuro told her that they were perfect for each other. So after many hardships they ended up getting married. And they were blessed with a beautiful young girl they baptised harusaki.
